

According to the Buddhist teachings, whatever problems or happiness we encounter in this and future lives depends on our own past actions or karma. At the same time, Tibetan Buddhists believe that with the help of astrology and other divination techniques it is possible to determine whether certain actions are advisable or not, which particular activities are preferable, whether a particular action at a given time will result in happiness or not, and so forth. Khenpo Ngawang Dorjee who practiced Tibetan astrology for many years can help to make such decisions. Using the method of unique Tibetan astrological calculations, he can help in difficult decision making situations and his predictions can shed light on your future. In particular, he can predict compatibility of marriage, efficacy of different types of medical cure, and success in business.
